

THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER

Wednesday, June 23, 1954

---

At yesterday's Todd-AO showing at MGM Oscar Hammerstein II said, "There's hardly a man alive who knows less about optical science than I do so I've been chosen, because I can't possibly talk over your heads, to present these tests to you" . . . Of the Agnes De Mille - Fred Zinnemann tests Hammerstein said, "These are finger exercises conducted prior to the big concert, 'Oklahoma!'" . . . All the top brass turned out: Mike Todd, RGH, Zinnemann, George Stevens, Art Hornblow, Magna treasurer Malcolm Kingsberg, American Optical veep Henry Woodbridge, Bankers Trust veep Herb Golden, Charlie Skouras . . . It was Big Screen Day. Earlier we were trampled by 4000 Zulus at the Chinese